

One cannot deny the natural beauty of natural wooden floors. However, we can welcome new to the market, our range of wood 'effect' tiles. Wood effect tiles have all of the natural beauty of real natural wood, without the restrictions and characteristics of a natural wood product such as natural timber. Wood effect tiles are created uniquely with a range of colours, styles and shapes to suit all tastes and settings.

Vintage Wood Beige Wood Effect Tiles

At Belletto, we have many luxury ranges of wood effect tiles in porcelain and ceramic for our customers to discover.

We also carry R rated wood effect tiles with effective anti-slip properties for use in wet areas or areas with a high volume of foot traffic.

Wood effect tiles are durable, extremely strong and resistant to damage. Unlike natural wood, wood effect tiles are not easy to scratch when moving furniture around your home or with high foot traffic during parties and gatherings.

Wood effect tiles are not subject to moisture or water damage so don't get upset if the kitchen sink overflows. Oops!! Easy to keep clean and maintain!

Wood effect tiles blend in beautifully with modern kitchens either with high gloss or painted finishes. Combined with luxurious underfloor heating, wood effect tiles can be used to create an amazingly comfortable living room with the latest style.

Wood effect tiles are growing in popularity worldwide. Wood effect tiles are the ideal solution for modern demands.
